Introduction:
Indonesia is an archipelago country which has 1,340 ethnic groups. The largest number of tribes occupied by the Javanese as much as 41% and the second largest tribe is the Sundanese as much as 15%. The Sundanese tribe has regional languages which are also called Sundanese language. The results of Population Census in 2010 shows that Sundanese speakers are estimated to number 36 million people. Although the language used by many speakers, a study conducted by Balai Bahasa Bandung shows a symptom that Sundanese speakers is declining by as much as 20% each year. (Pikiran Rakyat, 2010). Sundanese is not just a medium of communication for Sundanese people. Sundanese is also not just a differentiation identity from other tribes. Sundanese has a system of values, knowledge, and perspective on the living universe of its speaker society. Therefore, Sundanese should continue to be used, maintained, and developed. Some of the factors causing the declining number of Sundanese speakers in Bandung are geography-economic and science-technological factors. Bandung as the administrative center and the center of economic activity has caused capital to flow rapidly, including global capital. This is slowly eroding the mindset of the people to become economic oriented, including in the field of language. Speakers choose only languages that are considered economically profitable and ignore other languages (including Sundanese). The development of science and technology has also shut down some of Sundanese language vocabularies, along with the un-representation of existing concepts in a word or vice versa. The anxiety over Sundanese phenomenon as mentioned above which may have encouraged the Local Government (Pemda) Bandung City to give birth to policy in the form of Birth of Regional Regulation (Perda) Bandung No. 09 of 2012 on the Use, Maintenance, and Development of Language, Literature, and Sundanese script (P3BSAS). The above hypothesis is similar to what is envisaged in the Regional Regulation No. 9 of 2012 which states that what prompted the birth of this P3BSAS Regulation is because (1) with the increasing flow of globalization in various joints of social life has had an impact on the weakening of the use, maintenance and development of Language, Literature, and Sundanese script, (2) that Sundanese Literature, Language and Literature have noble values in socio-cultural life as ancestral heritage and become the identity of Bandung community that is well-mannered, friendly and dignified, (3) that in order to strengthen social life, community culture Bandung Citizen as a polite Bandung society, friendly and dignified it is necessary to regulate the use, maintenance and development of Language, Literature and Sundanese script in everyday life. The legalization of P3BSAS regulation should be appreciated positively by all levels of Bandung society because it is very positive and soulful with the breath of the times of Sundanese phenomenon today. In addition, this law or rule can also be a strong foundation in language planning that puts Sundanese language as an integral part of the strategy or politics of regional culture in West Java and national. Regulation No. 9 of 2012 is in line with the West Java Provincial Regulation No. 14 of 2014 on Amendment to Regional Regulations of West Java Province No. 5 of 2003 on Maintenance of Language, Literature, and Regional Script. Chapter II of Article IV of regulation No. 9 of 2012 explicitly states that the objectives of the use, maintenance and development of Sundanese Literature and Script through this regulation are: (a) to strengthen and establish the existence and continuity of the use of Sundanese literature and script as supporting factors for the growth of the identity and pride of the region; (b) strengthening and establishing the status and function of Sundanese Literature, Language and Script in socio-cultural life that inherited noble values as characteristic of a respectable and dignified Sundanese society; (c) protect, develop, empower and utilize Sundanese Language, Literature and Script which are the main elements of regional culture in order to realize a cultured and characterized nation; and (d) increase the quantity and quality of use, maintenance and development of Sundanese Literature, Literature and Script. In Article 10 (1) it is mandated that the use, maintenance and development of Sundanese Literature and Script is carried out through these strategies: (a) establishing and developing the Sundanese language, literature and literacy materials in the local content curriculum at all levels and formal education units and non-formal; (b) establishing Wednesday as a Sundanese language day in all educational, governmental and civic activities; (c) to write the Sundanese script for names of places, streets, buildings of a public nature other than the use of other languages; (d) encourage and facilitate organizations and social institutions in the use, maintenance of the Sundanese Language, Literature and Script; (e) reward parties that demonstrate a fruitful effort for the use, maintenance and development of Sundanese Literature, Literature and Script, especially for Sundanese language teachers, missionaries, and community leaders; (f) enriching the Sundanese language books in the library; and (g) reproduce the Qur'an in Sundanese translation. What is interesting to study as well as the purpose of this research is what and how the programs implemented by Bandung Government in an effort to realize the Regulation No. 9 of 2012. Whether the various strategies that have been resolved in article 10 (1) above have been fully realized or not, and what obstacles and solutions faced by the government in realizing the Regulation No. 9 of 2012. This regulation can be classified into one of the language planning efforts undertaken by the government through political policy. The term "language planning" was originally used by E. Haugen (1959) in his article when he was planning language on Norwegian language. In such efforts, Haugen has defined "language planning" as any attempt by a particular agency to preserve or nurture language and involves the coaching, regulation, and standardization of the target language. The term "language planning" is also used by J. Rubin and B.H. Jernudd (1971) to refer to the efforts of an institution that aims to impose changes of language codes or language utterances, or both. J.A. Fishman (1968) also uses the term "language planning" and "language development" to refer to the planned steps in the search for a settlement of language problems that are generally carried out at the national level. The study of language planning especially in Indonesia has been conducted by several researchers, Moeliono (2011) has conducted a study entitled "Language Policy and Language Planning in Indonesia: Constraints and Challenges". The results of his research recommend that in planning the language needs to be done are status planning, corpus planning, and language planning in the Field of Education. The study of language planning in Bandung, has been done by researchers in the field of education, sociology, and communication. Mufti (2015) conducted a study on "Socialization of Rebo Nyunda Program by Ridwan Kamil (Case Study Among Students of Bandung)". The results revealed that the program Rebo Nyunda is one program to preserve Sundanese culture. This program is one of Bandung Kata Government's efforts to implement the Regional Regulation (Perda) Number 2 Year 2012 which states that every Wednesday the citizens of Kata Bandung are required to communicate in Sundanese and Bandung Provincial Regulation No. 9 of 2012. With the existence of such activities, socialization is required which is good for messages can be delivered well to students in Kata Bandung through the selection of appropriate communication media. In addition, Chaerunnisa (2016) conducted the research "Implementation Program Rebo Nyunda In Growing Local Student Wisdom Education". The result of the research shows that the students are still very influenced by the modernization flow, where there are some students who have difficulties in implementing the Sundanese cultural values and some have the desire to develop Sundanese culture, but the environment is not so supportive. Conclusion states that there are inhibiting factors that influence such as students' own awareness due to lack of knowledge, peers who often make fun, and also environment outside school. The driving factors, namely from families and schools that provide facilities to know Sundanese culture better.

After that, the data obtained from the local regulation is associated with various efforts that have been realized by the Government of Bandung City Period 2013-2018 led by Mayor Ridwan Kamil and Deputy Mayor Oded Muhamad Danial. Result and Discussion:

Sundanese Language Program in Education Curriculum:

Education is one of the areas that became one of the strategies in the P3BSAS Regulation explicit in Article 10 paragraph 1 point a which states (a) establishes and develops Sundanese Language, Literary and Literature teaching materials in the local content curriculum at all levels and formal education units and non-formal. This has been done consistently by the city of Bandung which makes the subjects of Sundanese as one of the subjects in Curriculum Year 2013. This is reinforced by the statement of Head of Bandung Education Office Oji Mahroji who said Sundanese language has become a local content in school. Regulations on regional languages already exist at the city or provincial level. With these rules, local languages still exist, and will be studied in schools. He also added that Sundanese is the mother tongue, the language that must be preserved. As a regional person there must be an effort to defend. Although it has been implemented consistently, the application of Sundanese language lessons through curriculum in Bandung still faces several problems and obstacles. In addition to the interesting interest of the policy aspect, until now the field of education is still overshadowed by various problems and obstacles, especially in the teaching of language, literature, and Sundanese script in school. Among these are problems (1) teachers, (2) students, (3) curriculum, (4) teaching materials, (5) teaching methods, and (6) evaluation system. First, the teacher factor is related to quality and quantity. Currently, the number of Sundanese language teachers in West Java is still small if measured by the ratio between the graduates of UPI Language Education Department and the number of schools (789 graduates versus 4605 schools). Thus, the quality of teachers who teach Sundanese language is not optimal because many teachers of Sundanese language is not derived from Sundanese language education graduates. Second, the students' factors related to the attitude of the language they have are very weak. Students' interest to learn Sundanese is generally moderate (60%) so that his attitude towards Sundanese became less positive. Third, curriculum factor related to curriculum of Language and Sundanese Literature which is considered too complicated and quite difficult to be elaborated and adjusted in teaching and learning process in the field. Fourth, the existing teaching materials are still considered to be limited in terms of quality and quantity. Sundanese language textbooks for elementary school amounted to five titles and for junior amounted to eight titles with a quality that has not been maximized. (Sudaryat, 2006).
